2023 Nature Roubie—Picpoul de Pinet

The History

Olivier and Floriane Azan, originally from a family of apple growers near Montpellier, made the move into growing vines back in 1981 with the purchase of the Château Petit Roubié estate, which then comprised just 15 hectares. Situated in the village of Pinet, the domaine offers a range of organically produced wines but with focus on the distinctive and increasingly sought after Picpoul de Pinet. This variety is ideally suited to the maritime terroir, reflecting its origins perfectly. By 1995 Olivier had converted the entire estate production to organic viticulture and Petit Roubié was the first producer of organic Picpoul de Pinet. Olivier's winemaking is meticulous but essentially uncomplicated, preferring not to resort to excessive oak influence. He aims to deliver authentic wines with honest, clean, pure flavors.

Tasting Note

Pale gold, the brilliant color is adorned with green reflections. An intense nose releases rich and complex aromas of pomelo, lemon and ripe pineapple. Floral notes complete this beautiful aromatic palette. The palate is both ample and lively with a subtle balance whose freshness, delicately iodized and peppery finish enhances the fruity flavors.
